“Basking” is a rare behavior in which green sea turtles crawl ashore for reasons other than nesting.

Green sea turtles (honu) are the only species known to bask. The behavior has been documented exclusively on the main Hawaiian islands, Papahānaumokuākea, and Australia. Turtles are especially vulnerable while basking on shore.

HERE’S HOW YOU CAN H.E.L.P.

Turtle-Watching Etiquette

- H Hands to yourself and don’t touch
- E Enjoy from 15 ft. (5m) away
